December 1, 2009

Dear Orchestra Director and Student:

The Academie Musique at Temple College and the Central Texas Orchestral Society will be partnering for an exciting project this winter, presenting a unique opportunity for advanced string players in the Central Texas area.

The internationally recognized Chamber Orchestra Kremlin will be the artists performing on February 6, 2010 as part of the CTOS 2009 - 2010 concert season as well as the clinicians for the annual Marty Lundgren Master Class which will be held on February 4. Both the performance and the master class will be held at the Cultural Activities Center in Temple.

The Academie Musique will be auditioning and rehearsing a special student orchestra which will be the participating orchestra for the Marty Lundgren Master Class. Additionally, these students will perform the chosen works with the Chamber Orchestra Kremlin as the opening of their concert. Terence Guerrero, Director of the Vivace Orchestra at the Academie Musique and the rehearsal conductor for the Kremlin Student Orchestra chose two pieces from the Kremlin's current repertoire: Four Jewish Dances by Krymsky, and Russian Folk Song by Svetit Mesyats. Both of these pieces are on YouTube and together last approximately ten minutes. Misha Rachlevsky, director of the Chamber Orchestra of Kremlin will conduct the combined group in both the master class and then on the concert as well. Students will be responsible for all music at the time of auditions and must commit to all three rehearsals, the master class, and of course, the concert itself. Students may audition on the 2nd violin part.
