

INTERNET OR HYBRID COURSE DEVELOPMENT COMPENSATION

A faculty member, full-time or part-time, will be paid a stipend of $1,000.00 for first time development and teaching of any Internet course not previously offered through Temple College. If another faculty member has already developed the course, information and material will be shared with the new faculty member with no additional stipend paid. No stipend will be paid for normal redevelopment arising from new textbooks, course revisions, etc.

Note: If a faculty member leaves Temple College and has been paid to develop a course, that course belongs to Temple College. That faculty member must leave all development and course material with the college.
